FEMA pays, MESD survives

Layoffs avoided as federal money arrives

By Mike Myers
 Staff writer

The Metro East Sanitary District was walking the razor's edge this month, but it's breathing easier now because of a couple of checks totaling $350,000 from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

"I got to the point where I told everyone, 'Just don't spend any money.' The only money we spent was to make payroll," said Shang Greathouse, MESD president.

"It was tough, but we survived."

The MESD spent a little more than a million dollars fighting the "Flood of the Century" on the Mississippi River last summer, and FEMA agreed to reimburse the district for 90 percent of the expense.

But the payment process was slow and Greathouse said he anticipated he would have to lay off workers.

While no time is a good time for layoffs, Greathouse said, a layoff of MESD workers to save money now had the potential of costing the district money in the long run.

"We're (storm water) ditch cleaners that's what we do and do best. We do it for about half of what a contractor would charge," Greathouse said.

"We managed to get (the MESD ditch cleaning crews) qualified for 'work-in-kind' credit with the federal government, so our work on the ditches counts toward the local funding share for the (federal) rehabilitation project."

When voters in the MESD approved a tax increase in 1989, the increase was based on a $24 million rehabilitation project. Since the project uses 75 percent federal money and 25 percent local money, the tax was designed to raise $6 million.

Greathouse

"But when the (Mississippi) river (level) got down to zero, we got a chance to get under the pump stations and take a real good look at what we were up against."

"The result was the project cost estimate went up to $38 million," Greathouse said. "So now the local share was up to $9.5 million."

Greathouse said the district hopes to use work-in-kind to raise the extra $3.5 million.

But if workers are laid off, there is no work-in-kind, so Greathouse said he was willing to go to extraordinary lengths to keep all of his crews employed.

"These 25-cent dollars — that's what it amounts to — don't come along very often," Greathouse said. "It will never happen again in our lifetime."

Greathouse said FEMA has promised that the balance owed the MESD — about $400,000 — will come in within the next 10 days.

Granite City police officer Daryl May leads Larry D. Keel away from Keel's arrest Friday. Keel was charged with setting fire to a building at 1911 Grand Ave.

Man charged with arson

A 49-year-old Granite City man was charged with arson Monday in connection with a suspicious fire in the downtown area last week.

Larry D. Keel, of the 1500 block of East 20th Street, was being held in the Madison County jail in lieu of $30,000 bond.

Keel was arrested just after 2 p.m. Friday at the Pit Stop Cafe, about a block away from the fire at 1911 Grand Ave.

According to a police report, witnesses saw Keel running from the building just before smoke was seen coming from it.

Keel admitted to police that he used matches to set the fire in the vacant two-story apartment building, said Det. Nick Huniak.

"He freely admitted that he set the fire, but he never gave a clear, logical reason," Huniak said.

While Keel said he wanted to destroy "enormous amounts of narcotics" in the building, there were no drugs in the building, Huniak said.

Keel told police that he rented property from the owner of the building, Vance Weiss, of the 4200 block of Highway 162, about seven years ago, according to a police report.

Achievement nominations sought

Time is running out for nominations for the 39th Women of Achievement awards, co-sponsored by the Suburban Journals and KMOX-AM (1120).

Ten awards are given annually to "women who have made a commitment to serve the communities in the St. Louis area and whose efforts have improved the quality of life for those around them."

A committee of community leaders and former Women of Achievement winners will choose the 1993 awardees.

Nomination forms must be used when submitting a woman's name for the Women of Achievement honor. A form may be

Red Cross keeping busy

If it's March, it's National Red Cross Month. But forgive the Tri-City Chapter if the celebration is not as big as usual this year.

"There's no parade or anything like that this year," said Ron Streiler, chapter manager.

"We've introduced a new 'First Aid for Choking' class in the community that we hoped to tie in to Red Cross Month, but we've been so swamped that we haven't had time to plan a lot of other activities."

To say it's been a tough year for the Tri-City Chapter is an understatement, Streiler said. "It's been one disaster after another."

Police beat

The following are among incidents reported recently at area police departments:

Warrant arrests

- Harry J. Boston, 37, of St. Louis was arrested by Granite City police at Maryville Road and Parkway Drive at 3:57 p.m. March 14 on a fugitive from justice warrant and two forgery warrants.
- William C. Gusoskey, 34, of Dittmer, Mo., was arrested by Madison County authorities at 10:20 a.m. March 15 on a warrant charging him with theft of more than $300. Gusoskey posted $2,500 bail on bond set at $25,000 and was released from custody.
- Jamie R. Staggs, 17, of the 3000 block of Willow Avenue, was arrested at 9:51 a.m. March 16 on a warrant charging him with residential burglary. Bond was set at $15,000. Staggs is alleged to have entered a home in the 2400 block of Wilson Avenue with the intent to commit a theft in a Feb. 7 incident.
- Jessie R. "Bobby" Sowders Jr.,

23, of the 2300 block of Illinois Avenue, was arrested at 4:12 p.m. March 16 on a Jackson County, Ill., warrant charging him with criminal sexual assault.

Bond on the warrant is $10,000.

• Gregory Phillips, 38, of the 4200 block of Marigold Drive, turned himself in to Madison County authorities March 17 on a felony warrant charging him with unlawful acquisition of a controlled substance.

Bond on the warrant is $15,000. Phillips allegedly misrepresented his identity to obtain a prescription for propoxyphene napsylate, a controlled substance, in a March 4 incident.

DUIs

• Michael D. Ferrante Sr., 50, of Edwardsville, was arrested at 11:35 p.m. March 14 for driving under the influence of alcohol and improper lane usage.

An officer reported seeing a blue 1988 Buick Park Avenue weaving on 18th Street near Delmar Avenue.

Ferrante, the driver, took a field sobriety test and a breath analysis test and was charged.

• David B. Equia, 26, of the 800 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, was arrested at 7:52 p.m. March 17 for driving under the influence of alcohol, illegal transportation of alcohol and obstructing traffic.

An officer responding to a report of a green 1978 Lincoln Town Car moving erratically in the southbound lanes of Highway 3 reported finding a similar car driving slowly on Rock Road.

A partly-full beer can was found on the floor of the car, according to a police report.

Equia took three field sobriety tests and a breath analysis test and was charged.

• Leonard L. Jarman, 36, of the 3000 block of Sinclair Street, was arrested at 11:17 p.m. March 17 for driving under the influence of alcohol.

An officer reported finding Jarman behind the wheel of a yellow 1967 GMC pickup truck parked at Keith's Lounge, 2701 Washington Ave., near the scene of a recent accident.

Jarman took three field sobriety tests, refused to take a breath analysis test and was charged.

DCFS should share cases with private agencies, official says

By Kevin Glenn
Staff writer

The scope of the Department of Children and Family Services grows alarmingly out of control, and private providers with greater resources yearn to lend a hand, says a child-care service official.

"The department really is overwhelmed," said Peter Cerneka, executive director of Catholic Charities and Catholic Social Services in the Belleville Diocese. "They really have taken on more than they should have."

But if DCFS would step back into its originally carved role and share its cases with private providers, Illinois could greatly improve care extended to abused and neglected children, say Cerneka and child welfare leaders in the state's five other dioceses.

"We're concerned about the child welfare system in Illinois," Cerneka said. "We realize that there are some serious problems. We want to contribute to a system that is in some trouble."

DCFS appears open to such a partnership.

"We are more than willing to talk it over," said DCFS spokesman Scott Hamilton.

"We're trying to work with others to protect children."

The department currently contracts out 62 percent of its cases to other providers, Hamilton said, and would consider offering more to improve services.

"In the long run it helps to reduce the caseload," Hamilton said. "We acknowledge that they have skyrocketed. ... We recognize that there are limits to what an agency can do."

Balancing an unwieldy number of cases, the department cannot effectively keep in touch with those it provides for, nor offer the flexibility of private care, Catholic Services officials say.

"If they were not involved in that direct service ... they could do the monitoring, guardianship and the regulating duties that really they were created to do," Cerneka said.

In the last few years, private-sector agencies have regained their role as primary providers in a substantial chunk of child-welfare cases, as was the plan when DCFS was created by the Legislature in 1986, officials said.

According to Catholic Services figures, the proportion of Illinois children served privately has grown from 34 percent in 1989 to 56 percent last year. But agencies typically can handle about 10 percent more across the board, Cerneka added.

That increase, however, should not necessarily take place immediately, Cerneka added, because the resources might not be there.

The Belleville Diocese agency services about 140 foster children, while providing 100 counseling sessions a week, crisis intervention, and some care for refugees and the home-bound elderly, Cerneka said.

The push to encourage DCFS back into its regulatory role stems from such an availability of resources in the private sector, he said. It is not an attack on the state agency.

"In no way should this be interpreted as any kind of criticism of DCFS," Cerneka said.

Mary Kane is leaving development authority post

Mary Kane, the executive director of the Southwestern Illinois Development Authority, is leaving the agency to launch a new Illinois operation for a St. Louis-based investment firm.

Kane of Edwardsville, authority director for almost five years, will leave soon to become vice president of public finance for Stifel-Nicolaus and Co. Inc.

She will be working through brokerage offices that Stifel operates in Alton and Belleville.

"I'm leaving, sadly... but looking forward to the opportunity..." she said. "I'm going to stay on until we find somebody. Once that's finalized and I spend a little time with them, I'll make the switch. It will probably be in May sometime, but I don't know that it will be that long."

Kane informed the SWIDA board several weeks ago, and the position has been advertised and several candidates have been interviewed.

The search is being coordinated by board Chairman Earl Larson, former president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The authority is an economic development coalition of business, community, government and education leaders.

The state Legislature created it in September 1987 and gave it unique financing powers to issue bonds, offer loans and otherwise support economic development.

Kane said the authority has created or retained at least 1,200 jobs during its first five years, largely through $150 million in development bonds.

Among businesses assisted have been American Electronic Laboratories Inc. at St. Louis Region at Airport in Bethalto; Wood River Township Hospital; Shell Oil Co. in Roxana; and Tri-City Regional Port District in Granite City.

More recently the authority has served as consultant under contract to the city of Edwardsville during construction of the Olympic Festival track stadium at SIUE.

Kane said the authority also worked hard to achieve designation of the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial on the East St. Louis riverfront and established an 11-bank Community Development Corp. that makes high-risk loans for small business.

Kane said her new job will meld well with what she's been doing, since public finance involves such things as municipal bond issues.

"Finance is really where I can make the strongest contribution, working with cities, counties and school districts. It's the same kinds of things we've been doing before," she said.

"It's great news because it continues the focus on Southwestern Illinois that we've worked on for a long time," she said.

"Southwestern Illinois is really a significant part of the metropolitan area. As somebody who used to sell that idea for a long time, it's nice to see somebody else believe it too."

Prior to joining SWIDA, Kane was executive director of the Leadership Council Southwestern Illinois and before that county administrator in Madison County.

She said she hopes the authority chooses a local individual to replace her. "This area is an area with lots of opportunities and challenges and it helps if you have familiarity with the players."

Museum delays cutting hours

The Madison County Historical Museum will keep its regular hours for at least another month, but a tax hike defeat may mean reduced hours by summer.

County Board member Nick Hamilos, who sits on the Education and Recreation Committee, said a decision on cutting hours would best be put off until a meeting with Auditor Fred Bath on this week to discuss the financial status of the county-subsidized museum.

The committee met Friday to discuss alternatives after voters rejected doubling the museum's property tax rate of two-tenths of a cent per $100 assessed valuation.

The increase would have meant less than $1 for the average county homeowner, but Hamilos said an anti-tax fervor coupled with another tax hike request on the ballot doomed the proposal Tuesday. It lost 18,728 to 9,086.

Before the election, museum officials said the only way to balance the budget if the tax hike failed would be to cut

"We were right below it on the ballot. If we'd been by ourselves, we might have gotten it passed."

hours. Museum Superintendent Anna Symanski said Friday one option would be to open the museum on the first and third Sundays of each month instead of every Sunday.

But the Education and Recreation Committee, Symanski and members of the historical society's board plan to meet with Bathon Wednesday. The museum gets a $10,000 annual subsidy from the county and $37,000 a year from the property tax.

Regarding the failed ballot proposal, Symanski said it was "commendable that 9,000 people voted for it."

Hamilos placed part of the blame on the defeat on the issue running on the same ballot with the Edwardsville School District tax hike request. That proposal was also defeated by a 2-1 ratio.

"We were right below it on the ballot," he said. "If we'd been by ourselves, we might have gotten it passed."

Hamilos said there also is an anti-tax sentiment among voters. "Some people told me, 'I'm voting against all taxes,'" he said.

The Education and Recreation Committee will meet next month to evaluate Bathon's recommendations and then determine what it will recommend to the historical society's board.

The museum will continue to operate from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays and from 1 to 4 p.m. Sundays.

Living on their own Handicapped are independent

More than 150 people with mental retardation are living on their own in local communities, thanks to the client and family support program of the William BeDeil Achievement and Resource Center in Wood River.

"The people we serve want to live and work just like everyone else," said Deb Showers, coordinator of the program.

"Our goal is to allow each person to live in the least restrictive environment possible."

"In the past, many of the people aided by the support program would have been warehoused" in large, overcrowded institutions. These institutions were expensive to operate, and residents suffered from neglect.

"Persons with retardation were often thought of as unemployable, uneducable and unacceptable to society at large."

Today, we recognize that a minimum of support may be all that's needed for people with disabilities to live and work with dignity.

The current trend throughout the nation is to encourage people with developmental disabilities to live in smaller groups in homes and apartments.

In Madison County, caseworkers from the BeDeil ARC teach people how to live in the community: how to manage money, pay rent and other bills, shop for food and use public transportation.

"We want to make sure that families and persons with mental retardation take advantage of services available for them," Showers said.

Some hold down fast-food jobs or do maintenance or clerical work.

Others work on supervised teams at community locations, or are enrolled in skills training or supported employment programs managed by Specialized Services in Alton and Granite City.

There are three local sheltered workshops, operated by Specialized Services and by OATH (Organization for Aid to The Handicapped) in Madison. For more information about family and client support available throughout Madison County, families may call Deb Showers at 482-4404.

Confronting the KKK Attorney hopes to block Klan rally

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

Despite the wishes of other organizations that want to avoid confrontation with the KKK, Klan over a proposed rally May 6, Edwardsville attorney Lawrence Talliana plans to take the group head on.

Groups throughout Madison County have called for abandoning downtown Edwardsville May 6 if the KKK's application to rally is accepted. But Talliana hopes to bump the Klan from downtown Edwardsville altogether.

In an effort to keep the Klan from having its rally in downtown Edwardsville, Talliana formed the Coalition of Racial and Religious Harmony and filed an application with the county to use the Madison County Courthouse grounds on May 6.

A lot of people disagree with what I want to do, but that doesn't mean I don't still think it is appropriate," Talliana said. "I filed an application to hold a rally, and if the county grants it, I'm going to hold a rally."

Other groups opposed to the Klan's message have suggested holding a rally of their own somewhere else, or just ignoring the KKK completely.

OPIN — an organization promoting the philosophy of an Ongoing, Positive, Inclusive and Non-violent response to the proposed Klan rally — wants to hold a rally at the same time as the Klan, but at the Edwardsville High School athletic complex on Center Grove Road.

Talliana attended an OPIN meeting March 14, but said his opinion differs from the group's philosophy.

"(OPIN) is a different group, although they have a similar philosophy to the Coalition of Racial and Religious Harmony," Talliana said. "I had hoped to work with them, but that's not the approach they want to take. I still support their efforts, however."

Talliana said he feels keeping the Klan out of downtown

Edwardsville almost as important a factor as the message of his proposed rally.

"For security reasons alone, I think it would be a better idea to allow (the Coalition for Racial and Religious Harmony) to rally instead of the Klan," Talliana said. "The courthouse is literally a stone's throw — and I don't take that phrase lightly — from several bars in the downtown area, and that may well lead to potential problems."

Talliana said he was unsure about more specific plans of his group, since it was unsure if its application to rally would be accepted. The Madison County Board Buildings Committee hoped to decide on the fate of the two applications Monday, but lacked a quorum at its meeting due to the absence of three members.

Building committee chairman Herbert Milton Jr. said the group will try to vote on the request at its next meeting Monday.

Greg Gumbel to speak at McKendree

Greg Gumbel, CBS anchor for the 1994 Olympic Winter Games, will bring his personal anecdotes from Lillehammer to the St. Louis area in April.

He will be the keynote speaker at McKendree College's Founders Day April 14.

Gumbel's presentation will highlight the day's events, which also include a silent auction and formal dinner.

In 1990, Gumbel became host of CBS Sports' "The NFL Today." He has been paired since then with studio analyst Terry Bradshaw.

He previously co-anchored the network's weekday morning broadcasts of the 1992 Winter Games in Albertville, France. He is also the co-host with John Madden of CBS Radio Sports' weekly show, "NFL Preview."

Gumbel has hosted or done play-by-play for Major League Baseball's Seattle Mariners, college football, the NFL, and the National Basketball Association's Cleveland Cavaliers and Philadelphia 76ers.

Prior to signing on at CBS, Gumbel spent more than five years at ESPN, where he co-hosted "SportsCenter" and hosted "This Week in the NBA" and "The NBA Tonight."

He then moved to New York, where he did Emmy-winning broadcasts for the New York Knicks and New York Yankees for the Madison Square Garden Network.

Born in 1946 in New Orleans, Gumbel grew up in Chicago and graduated from Louis College, Dubuque, Iowa, in 1967 with a degree in English. His brother Bryant is the co-host of NBC's "Today Show."

Chosen for Hall of Fame induction

Hulas King, alumnus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been chosen for induction into the African-American Biographies Hall of Fame. King, a native of East St. Louis and currently director of the industry marketing team for Electronic Data Services, will be formally inducted into the Hall of Fame in Atlanta later this year.

The Hall of Fame ceremony will honor leading African-American men and women who are considered to be role models for other African Americans. As a Hall of Fame inductee, Mr. King will be among some of the nation's most respected African Americans, including Whitney Houston, Spike Lee, Hank Aaron, Muhammad Ali, former Congressman Barbara Jordan and astronaut Guion Stewart Bluford.

King has had a long and rewarding association with the University. As a student, he earned a bachelor of science in management science and data processing, a master in business administration, a master of science in governmental/international relations, and a master of science in management information systems — as well as earning a health care management certificate. He also has a master of science degree in industrial engineering from the University of Missouri-Columbia, where he is currently a doctoral candidate in industrial engineering.

For many years, King has served as a member of the Universitywide business advisory council and as a member of the University's School of Business advisory council. He is the chairman of the Professional Business Leadership Council, an organization made up of SIUE School of Business alumni, a group which serves as a support group for the campus Organization of Minority Business Students.

Mr. King has gained international recognition for his leadership and involvement in civic and professional organizations. His many awards and honors include Who's Who Among Black Americans, the Distinguished Alumni Award from the University's Alumni Association in 1978, the "Salute to Excellence" Award for Science/Technology from the St. Louis American, the "Engineering Person of the Year" Award from the Gateway Chapter of Engineers in 1989, and the "Golden Sovereign Award" for presenting the best professional paper at the Canadian Robotics Conference in Toronto.

He also has been recognized as one of the top international speakers by the Australian Graphics Association in Sydney, Australia.

Change in definition leads to more reported AIDS cases

New statistics released by the Illinois Department of Public Health list 10 more AIDS cases in Madison County, cases covered under an expanded definition adopted by the federal Centers for Disease Control.

Those may include cases diagnosed over a period of several years that were only reported for the first time last year, however, said department spokesman Tom Schuler.

The new definition also requires reporting of HIV-infected persons who have about one-fifth the normal level of certain white blood cells or have complications from tuberculosis, cervical cancer and recurrent pneumonia.

Of the cases under the old definition reported last year, there were 14 new ones in Madison County.

Holiday Shores to host craft fair

Holiday Shores will be hosting a spring arts and crafts fair on Sunday, April 10 from noon until 4 p.m.

All interested exhibitors are invited to participate in this event. There will be a $10 fee for each 6-foot table that is required to display the crafts. Deadline for entering the fair is April 1, and requests will be filled according to space availability. For details, call 656-4953.

new AIDS cases. Since the state began keeping statistics in 1981, there have been a total of 102 persons with the full-blown deadly AIDS disease in Madison County, under the old definition.

Eight counties in the state, including Calhoun County, so far have reported no AIDS cases.

The state health department said in 1993 the fastest growing categories of AIDS cases under the old definition were injecting drug users, up 28 percent; females, up 18 percent; heterosexuals, up 18 percent; and African-Americans, up 16.3 percent. Homosexual/bisexual men accounted for 47 percent of the new cases in 1993 but it was the first time since statistics have been kept that they accounted for less than half of the new AIDS cases.

Drug awareness program cited BAC program designated as statewide model

The Belleville Area College Counseling Department recently received statewide recognition when its alcohol and other drug awareness program, CHOICE, was designated as a Model Program at a conference held in Springfield.

Several BAC staff and students attended the Campus Alcohol and Traffic Safety (CATS) conference, held Feb. 28-March 1. Representatives from more than 40 Illinois colleges and universities attended the conference.

The conference was sponsored by The Office of Safety Programs at Eastern Illinois University in conjunction with "Policies and Programs For The 1990s," a team approach to preventing alcohol and drug use as it relates to traffic safety.

BAC staff members who attended the CATS conference included: Fred Indenbaum, dean of Counseling and Human Development; Dr. Linda Cowden, counselor; Roger Eckert, an intern in the Counseling Department; Garry Ladd, director of BAC's Fitness Lab; and Tom Thompson, BAC student. This group, along with other BAC faculty, staff, students and community leaders, forms the CHOICE (Choosing Healthy Options Involving Community Education) team, an alcohol and other drug awareness and prevention group.

CHOICE was honored at the state conference for organizing an exemplary activity, the Red Ribbon Run. The event was held Oct. 23 in conjunction with Red Ribbon Week activities in area schools. CHOICE plans to make the run an annual event.

The run, which attracted 75 runners and 150 walkers, was designed to promote the CHOICE team's mission of campus and community wellness.

CHOICE team members spoke to conference attendees on how the BAC staff utilized financial, media and personnel resources to implement the run. Organizers also noted the emotional and inspirational aspects of the participants competing in the state.

"The fact that our staff received this honor is a tribute to all of the hard work put in by so many people to make the Red Ribbon Run a success. We're hoping for an even bigger event this October," Indenbaum said.

Four mayors seeking widening of I-64

Four area mayors appealed to the Illinois Department of Transportation last week to expand Interstate 64 between Illinois 157 and 158 to six lanes. But an Illinois Department of Transportation official said Friday that while the need for the project exists, the agency does not have the funding to tackle it now.

The mayors of Caseyville, Fairview Heights, Lebanon and O'Fallon signed a letter that was sent to Dale Klohr, district 8 engineer for IDOT, requesting consideration of the widening as a "high priority for the very near future."

"We feel that for the safety and convenience of the many motorists who use I-64, the Illinois Department of Transportation should at the very least incorporate the addition of a third lane on both sides into its existing five-year plan for regional improvements," a copy of the draft letter states.

IDOT's Klohr said Friday, however, that the funding just isn't there.

"We are aware of the increased traffic volumes on I-64, and I agree that the traffic volumes are going to get to the point where it's going to need to be done," Klohr said.

"I just don't have the funds to do it," he said.

Springtime Country Fair this weekend

The 11th annual Springtime Country Fair is returning to Belleville March 25, 26 and 27 at the Belle-Clair Fairgrounds, located at Illinois 13 and 159. This year's show will be bigger and better than ever.

The Springtime Country Fair brings the best in country folk art, primitive, Victorian and personalized items. Artisans from across the country will be bringing thousands of new creations for 1994 never seen before in the Belleville area.

This year's show will feature country furniture, primitive dolls, bears, and seasonal items, baskets, tin punch, miniatures, wood carvings, clocks, calligraphy, willow furniture, shaker style furniture, dried wreaths, herb arrangements, country signs, iron lamps, homespun shades, shaker boxes, children's furniture, southwest jewelry and decor, wearable art, gourmet foods and numerous other country items.

The Country Treasures Shows are known throughout the Midwest for exceptional quality and variety of handmade country decorating items and accessories. Only the finest artisans and craftsmen are selected to participate in this show.

As a special highlight, people may register to win $500 plus merchandise gift certificates to be given away all weekend. No purchase necessary.

The hours will be Friday 4-8 p.m., with $2 admission; and Saturday and Sunday 10 a.m.-5 p.m., $1 admission. Children 12 and under no charge. Free parking is offered.

DOROTHY SBABO

Dorothy Shabo retires from The First National Bank in Madison after 47 years of service. You are invited to an Open House in her honor at The First National Bank in Madison, 600 Madison Avenue, on March 25, 1994 for refreshments from 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

Come visit Dorothy and wish her happiness in her retirement.

"We feel that for the safety and convenience of the many motorists who use I-64, the Illinois Department of Transportation should at the very least incorporate the addition of a third lane on both sides into its existing five-year plan for regional improvements."

— Mayors' letter

Chance said Friday that widening the highway — and the exit ramps onto Illinois 157 — would be a big plus for Caseyville residents.

Chance said widening the ramps would make the intersection safer, as well as making it more convenient for motorists. It is dangerous when cars driving 60 mph on the interstate come up on cars that are stopped waiting to get off on 157, he said.

But Klohr said IDOT is not considering widening the exit ramps at this time. He said he drives them daily at rush hour and doesn't see traffic backed up there.

The idea to write a letter followed a meeting between Fairview Heights Mayor George Lanxon and O'Fallon Robert Morton.

During a recent traffic count completed on this stretch of Highway 64, it was estimated that as many as 55,000 drivers used the interstate on a given day. And a civilian joint-use airport at Scott Air Force Base is expected to add to those numbers, the mayors said.

Klohr said most of the traffic going to a joint-use airport at Scott would be going the opposite direction of the heaviest traffic flow, and wouldn't add much to congestion.

But he said continuing development in general of the I-64 corridor is adding to traffic volume.

Rose-pruning demonstration set

A rose-pruning demonstration will be held Saturday, April 2, at 10 a.m. at the West End Square Park at 11th and West Main in Belleville.

In case of rain, the event will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 9.

Consulting rosarians of the Belleville Area Rose Society will conduct the demonstrations.

All persons interested in growing our national flower, the rose, are welcome to attend.

In 1991, the Belleville Parks Department asked the Rose Society to take over the maintenance of this rose garden. A lot of the rose bushes had to be replaced, and 27 rose plants were donated by area garden centers.

More than 70 plants were contributed by members of the Rose Society.

There are about 140 rose bushes, the majority of which are newer varieties.

The members prune the roses in the spring, maintain a weekly spraying program, water and fertilize when necessary and they winterize the bushes in the fall.

Volunteers who work on this rose garden are from Belleville, Fairview Heights, Collinsville, O'Fallon, Lebanon, Edwardsville, Carlyle, Smithton, Columbia and Millstadt. The membership is from 17 communities in five counties.

in April. There was the unusual flooding in July when the Mississippi River reached record levels in the Great Flood of 1927.

"For us, the July flooding lasted through the rest of the year," Streiler said. "In fact, the family assistance keeps going."

"And we've got to gear up now in case there is more flooding this spring."

The aftermath of the summer Mississippi flood was still an active disaster when the earthquake hit California in January, further depleting Red Cross resources nationwide.

And then there were the local disasters.

"We had single-family and multi-family fires. There have been so many fires in the area this past year — it hasn't let up," Streiler said. "We've been kept very busy."

But Streiler said the Tri-City Chapter will keep one very important tradition of Red Cross Month this year — the annual fund drive.

"We depend on our annual campaign to help us with our expenses throughout the year," he said.

"We are putting the campaign together this week. We're hoping that it all goes well. It will be ready next week."

"We are hoping to raise $3,500 this year."

Persons wishing to make donations or who want more information about the Red Cross may call the Tri-City Chapter at 452-7184.

County may build new warehouse

Madison County officials are considering a plan to build a $200,000 warehouse on Troy Road instead of paying rent on one.

The warehouse would be used to store windows, insulation, weatherstripping and other supplies used in the county's weatherization program. It would replace rented space on First Avenue in Edwardsville, said Madison County Community Development Department Director Cheryl Jouett.

Two contractors have submitted bids to build the warehouse, but officials have yet to decide whether the $200,000 price tag is worth it, Jouett said.

A decision could come as soon as this week's County Board meeting, she added.

The county is paying $650 a month to rent warehouse space for weatherization supplies.

The new warehouse would be paid for with state and federal grant money, Jouett said.

Madison County spends about $600,000 a year helping low- and middle-income homeowners increase the energy efficiency of their homes by installing insulation and other weatherization equipment.

the Madison County juvenile detention facility.

The victim, a 14-year-old resident of the 1600 block of Fifth Street, was shot once through his right forearm at about 6:30 p.m. at a home in the 1600 block of Second Street.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, treated for the wound, and released.

"(The suspect) pointed the gun at him. He knew it was loaded, and he pulled the trigger," said Madison Police Chief Paul Bargiel.

Bargiel said police are not aware of any motive for the shooting.

According to police reports, the victim, the suspect and two other witnesses — also teenagers — initially told police that the boy who was shot was the victim of a drive-by shooting in the 2000 block of Ewing Avenue.

But all four later recanted the story and told police that the suspect had intentionally shot the victim, reports state.

The alleged shooter told police that the four boys were in a bedroom at his aunt's house in the 1600 block of Second Street.

The suspect told police he got his aunt's .38-caliber revolver from a closet, unloaded it, reloaded it with three rounds, and pointed it at one of the boys, who then ran out of the room.

The shooter next pointed the gun at the ceiling and pulled the trigger, but the gun did not fire, according to reports.

The suspect then pointed the gun at the victim, said that the gun would fire if he pulled the trigger, and then pulled the trigger, shooting the victim in the right forearm.

William Coyle

William A. Coyle, 76, of Granite City, formerly of Decatur, Ill., died at 8:20 p.m. Saturday, March 19, 1994, at Missouri Baptist Medical Center, St. Louis, after a 14-year illness.

He was born July 12, 1917, in Lincoln, Neb., and had been a long-time resident of Granite City.

Mr. Coyle was a safety engineer with the Norfolk and Southern Railway for 23 years prior to his retirement in 1979.

A member of St. John United Church of Christ, Granite City, and its Brotherhood, he also was a member of Masonic Triple Lodge 835, Low Twelve, Scottish Rite Bodies of the Valley of Southern Illinois, Alton Shrine Temple, Tri-City Shrine Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300 of Granite City, Eagles Aerie 1126 of Granite City, and the Tri-City Area Association for the Handicapped. He was a World War II Army veteran.

Survivors include his wife, Emma Irene (Peach) Coyle, whom he married Nov. 22, 1945; two daughters, Catherine Dillon and Billie Jean McKenna, both of Granite City; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He was preceded in death by one daughter, Janice Ann Coyle; his parents, Adolphus Coyle and Nellie (Warren) Coyle O'Leary; and two sisters, Lela and Marcella Sharp.

Services were held Tuesday at Irwin Chapel, Granite City, with the Rev. Allen Reiter officiating. Burial was at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates, Glen Carbon.

Memorials are requested for the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children or Tri-City Area Association for the Handicapped.

Christian drama on stage this weekend

We have no government armed with power capable of contending with human passions unbridled by morality and religion.

— John Adams

When Acts of Faith, a group of Christian actors presents its latest production at the Miner's Theater in Collinsville this weekend, the stage will be dominated by a large map of the United States rent into two pieces.

"America is divided right now," said Nancy Moss of Collinsville, a member of Acts of Faith. "You can tell it in the gangs, and we're on the verge of bankruptcy as a nation. And we're on the verge of moral bankruptcy as a nation."

Together with the band War Cry, Acts of Faith will present "War Cry... From the Heart of a Child" at the Miner's at 7 p.m. Saturday and at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Admission is free, but tickets are necessary to insure seating for everyone. A love offering will be taken.

Tickets are available at the door, or in advance at Something Old Something New, 107½ E. Main St. in Collinsville, and Kingdom Treasures at Lincoln Center in O'Fallon.

The production by the Christian group examines some of the obstacles facing today's families and children, and offers what members feel are solutions of hope.

"We are losing far too many of our children, because many have not found their identity as members of a loving, tightly-knit family," said minister Jim Nesbitt of Collinsville.

"Children who haven't been encouraged, taught character and values and lovingly disciplined by their parents don't realize their own worth, or that of others," Nesbitt said. "Kids join gangs just to belong to someone or something."

Hopelessness gripped many of today's youth.

"It doesn't have to be that way," he said. "Even though many families have been torn by divorce or death, it is still possible to raise healthy, whole kids — and to heal hurting adults. That is what we will show at the Miner's."

"War Cry... From the Heart of a Child" will feature original songs and skits combined in what the group calls "living pictures."

This will be the fourth performance in a year at the Miner's by the group, which includes more than 30 residents of places like Collinsville, Caseyville, Glen Carbon and St. Louis County.

Players range in age from age 8 to mature adults, and Nesbitt said teens and children dominate the performance. Acts of Faith has been in existence for about 10 years, Moss said, but things have really started to come together recently.

After the Miner's shows this weekend, the group will begin working with Crown Cable to tape a series of monthly segments to appear on local access Channel 3.

And the band War Cry recently recorded a cassette, entitled "War Cry... The Blood of the Lamb," which includes songs written by group members Nesbitt, Larry Raymer of Caseyville and Adam Kreck of Collinsville.

In Memory Of Henry Kovalik

Henry "Hank" Kovalik, 73, of Granite City died at 2:22 p.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

He was born Dec. 22, 1921, in Springfield, the son of Gus and Louise Napora Kovalik.

Employed by General Steel ACIP Industries and Sunset Hills Country Club, Member of St. John Lutheran Church.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Elaine; daughter, Mrs. Paul (Judith) Reynolds at Collinsville; son, Jeffrey Reynolds at Collinsville; son, Louis Pertel, Anna Ananias and Edna Liska all of Springfield and Ruth Angeline of Denver.

Survivors include: two sons, William Kovalik, John Kovalik and Jack Kovalik all of Springfield and five grandchildren.

Services were held St. John Lutheran Church in Granite City, with the Rev. S. Bohn officiating. Burial Lake View Memorial Gardens in Belleville.

Tips on creating gardens in Small Spaces

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Condominiums and manufactured homes are popping up everywhere these days, and there's a good reason. With the cost of land, these types of homes make good sense. They get the maximum benefit of the available land. So most of them, a large lot is not part of the package. Many conventional homes don't come surrounded by a vast amount of acreage, either.

Consequently, many people feel that gardening is something they'll have to forego, since the limited area outside isn't suited for it. But that doesn't have to be the case!

Nearly any space, no matter how large or small, can be made into a garden. When space is limited, it just takes a little more planning, and making good use of what area is available.

In some ways, a small garden can be an advantage. The plants, being closer, are brought into sharper focus. The tasks associated with gardening are easier and faster, since there's not as much real estate to cover.

So if you're among those lacking sizable space, these tips are for you!

First is the planning stage. Any project is easier when it's planned. This is especially true with smaller gardens, where an inappropriate or poorly-placed plant would be much more obvious. A rough sketch of your garden area will do. Artists' talent is not necessary here. Once you have the drawing, you should decide what type of garden you want. Will it be something that provides privacy or a play area for the kids? Will it be a patio or deck? Perhaps it'll be somewhere to grow vegetables or a beautiful accumulation of flowers.

With this in mind, you can indicate on the plan what will go where. Naturally, if you don't like something, it's no problem to change it while you're at the pencil and eraser stage. Many times it's easier to change the plan over and over again until the right combination appears.

A visit to the local library or bookstore can be of great help. By looking at the various photographs of plants, you'll get a much clearer idea of the shape your finished project will take on. Perhaps the plant you originally planned on for the corner of the garden just wouldn't look all that great. Now's the time to change it!

Garden pathways add depth to any garden, and a small-space garden is no different. Patio stones, railroad ties, concrete and bricks are some of the materials that paths can be constructed of. Draw a few locations on your plan for a possible pathway and see how it'll fit in.

Entranceways are always important when planning a garden, especially if it's in the front of the house. The entryway should attract visitors to your door, not detract from it. Low-hanging branches at eye level or an ill-placed ground cover that requires stepping over is not most people's idea of an exemplary garden scene.

The pathway to the entrance should not have wide gaps between boards or blocks. It should be free of stones, level and easy for someone to maneuver along. In other words, safe!

Patios are an ideal space for a garden of any size. A patio garden literally invites people outside. Plants can be added in hanging baskets or other containers. An arbor can create a cooling, shady summer retreat.

There's a great deal more to discuss with small-space gardening, and we'll get into it in upcoming columns. In the meantime, start planning! A lack of space is no reason not to enjoy the beauty and benefits a garden can provide.

McGinnis leading WINGS drive

The 1994 "We're Investing in New Growth at St. Elizabeth Medical Center" (WINGS) campaign that began March 16 is led by Frank McGinnis, chairman, and Bob Lombardi, vice chairman.

McGinnis, of Collinsville, has served the Granite City area for the past 25 years as senior vice president and vice president of the medical center, from which he retired last year.

"I accepted this position because, after 25 years of service to the medical center, I have seen it grow into the fine institution it is, with a dedicated and competent medical staff and the best technology available today," McGinnis said.

"Together with the community, we want to keep SEMC a viable place for the community's health-care needs," McGinnis is an active member and past president of the Healthcare Financial Management Association, Southern Illinois Chapter.

He served on the Medicaid Blue Ribbon panel for the Illinois Hospital Association, and has received several merit awards from the Healthcare Financial Management Association.

He has been president of the Granite City Optimists and treasurer of the Tri-Cities Red Cross Chapter.

Lombardi, a two-year veteran of the WINGS campaign, is owner of Lombardi Furniture and Interiors in Granite City and brings many years of community involvement to the campaign.

Lombardi is vice chairman of the Southwestern Illinois Development Authority and a board member of Central Bank and is on the advisory board at SEMC.

The WINGS campaign, an annual program, seeks support from community residents, businesses and corporations for the medical center's not-for-profit service. It also raises significant support from associates (employees), volunteers and physicians at SEMC.

In the last two years, the campaign raised more than $31,000, which helped provide quality health care to low-income families through the Family Services Clinic, purchase an endoscopy system and an additional ventilator, and equip two new operating-room suites.

Announcement of the drive leaders was made by Earl Buenger, SEMC Development Board chairman, who said, "We have great leadership in our co-chairs for the WINGS Campaign this year."

"There is no doubt that, under their guidance, we will meet our campaign goals," Buenger, president of O'Brien

Tire & Service Center in Granite City, headed last year's WINGS drive, leading more than 170 volunteers.

"People don't realize the impact St. Elizabeth has on this community," Buenger said. "The medical center provides an incredible number of health-care services, educational and support programs. Along the way, it has become the second largest employer in town."

"I agreed to chair the Development Board because this community is a great place to live. I want to see it grow. St. Elizabeth has made positive changes over the years to benefit us all. And this medical center is one place where my contribution can help make a real difference for everyone."

The Development Board oversees an ongoing program of fund-raising activities which generate resources supporting patient services and the purchase of capital equipment for the medical center.

Buenger is a member of the SEMC advisory board, the board of Providence, the board of directors of Magna Bank of Madison County, the Elks Club, the board of the Illinois Tire Dealers Association and St. John United Church of Christ.

He is a past chairman of the Tri-Cities Red Cross Chapter and past president of the Illinois Tire Dealers Association.

High school band festival to feature Tim Hagans

Jazz trumpeter and recording artist Tim Hagans, who has toured with Woody Herman and Stan Kenton and who now fronts his own quartet in the New York City area, will conduct a jazz clinic and also perform in concert Saturday, March 26, as part of the Seventh Annual Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville High School Jazz Band Festival.

The Festival — as well as appearances by Hagans, jazz drummer Todd Straight, and SIUE adjunct faculty member and bassist Tom Kennedy — is supported by a grant from the SIUE Excellence in Undergraduate Education Program. Straight and Kennedy will work with Hagans during the clinic, which will be conducted at noon that Saturday.

Ten high school jazz bands will be performing in competition from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. that day in the Communications Building theater. At 4:30, Hagans, Kennedy, and Straight, a drummer from Kansas City, Mo., will perform in concert with the SIUE Concert Jazz Band in the CB theater. There is no admission charge for the all-day competition or the concert.

Hagans, who has played around the world, has been a trumped instructor at the University of Lund, Skurup Folkhigh School, and the Jazz Institute of Malmö, all in Sweden.

He has also been a visiting assistant professor of Jazz Studies at the University of Cincinnati, and a department assistant at Berklee College of Music in Boston.

Hagans is now a private instructor in New York in addition to conducting college and university clinics and the Jamey Aebersold Summer Jazz Camps.

Hagans performs in the New York City area with his quartet: Hagans, Vic Juris, Scott Lee, and Jeff Williams, performing with jazz greats such as Joe Lovano, Gary Peacock, Bob Deniro, Bob Mintzer, and George Gruntz.

He has also been featured on several jazz albums throughout the past 20 years. His most recent release, No Words, will be out in May on the Blue Note label.

Warrior tennis team on upswing

Youth, depth giving Lobdell upbeat outlook

By Mike Kelly
Correspondent

Granite City High tennis coach Allen Lobdell is quietly pondering the future.

But he can hardly contain his enthusiasm. His 1994 squad could be the best team he's had during his 10-year tenure. The Warriors (13-2 in dual meets last season), despite losing state qualifiers Samuel Kumar and Jack Carmody to graduation, return a talented lineup that could be as good or better than last year's team.

"This team is the foundation for the future," Lobdell said.

"For years we've been trying to establish ourselves as a solid tennis program, but the Belleville schools (East, West and Althoff) have always stood in our way. Well, we're not there yet. But we could get there in a short period of time."

"IT'S GOING TO take at least three or four years before we can accomplish such a feat. With this group, I'd say we're at least two years away from our ultimate goal. These kids could be the trend setters."

Leading the way is sophomore Joseph Markell, who was a state qualifier last season. Markell, who will handle No. 1 singles for the Warriors, is considered Granite City's best player.

"Without question," Lobdell said, "Joseph has worked very hard to upgrade his game. He spent a lot of time on the court last summer and he spent some money for professional lessons. I have a world of confidence in him."

"That's why playing him at No. 1 singles doesn't concern me. He was our No. 1 player for half the season last year. He knows how to handle the pressure."

Lignoul, Warriors winding up

Senior starters key to success for GCHS, first-year skipper

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

Gus Lignoul enters his first year as the Warrior baseball team's head coach with a fundamental outlook that worked for his predecessor, Bob Stegmeyer, for the past two decades.

"The thing we're really emphasizing is pitching and defense," said Lignoul, who succeeds Stegmeyer after coaching in the program for the past nine years. "When you have that, you always have the opportunity to win. We have a pretty good nucleus of kids coming back."

While the Warriors lost several key starters to graduation last year, they hope to make it a smooth transition for Lignoul, who served as the team's pitching coach under Stegmeyer last spring and then coached Tri-City be following suit. Seniors Corey Dickerson, Jeff Ridenour and Mark Winfield will handle the majority of the starts this season. Each pitcher has gained considerable experience in both high school and American Legion baseball over the past three years. Ridenour and Winfield are the team's captains. "I think they've earned that with what they've demonstrated on and off the diamond," Lig-noul said. "Our strength this year is going to be our pitching. We're looking for those kids to be leaders. "We feel very confident in our pitchers. They have a lot of (See WARRIORS, Page 3B)

Trojan runners struggle in early going

By Mike Kelly
Correspondent

The Madison High boys track team is still searching for the right formula.

Plagued by grade problems and inexperience, the Trojans have taken it on the chin during their first two meets of the season. Following a subpar performance at the O'Fallon triangular meet on March 18, the Trojans got blanketed Saturday at the Saluki Indoor Invitational in Carbondale.

East St. Louis dominated the meet and easily claimed its second indoor title in as many weeks. Meanwhile, Madison found itself at the bottom of the heap, despite promising efforts by Eugene Williams, William Dixon, Delreese Meeks and the 4x200-meter relay team. Williams, Tavaras Young, Dixon and Jermaine McIntyre.

"I'm not concerned with times right now," coach Charles Steptoe said. "I'm more concerned with our inexperience. Our game plan at the moment is familiarizing ourselves with the basics. These guys must learn how to pace themselves in certain situations."

"ONCE WE GET that down, we should be in good shape. I'm not disappointed with Saturday's effort. We were a small (Class) A school in a field dominated by AA schools. We didn't have too much success on the scoreboard, but we still had some impressive efforts."

Dixon led the way in the 55-meter dash by completing the course in 7.08 seconds. Williams was right on his tail at 7.15.

Meeks ran the 400-meter dash in 53 seconds and the 4x200 relay team completed that event in 1:43.

"Our kids ran hard," Steptoe said. (See TROJANS, Page 4B)

GCHS to play Mount Vernon in return trip to Busch Stadium

The Warrior baseball team will get a taste of the big leagues for the second time when it visits Busch Stadium next month.

The Warriors, who played Mount Vernon at Bush near the end of last season, will play the Rams again on April 17 following a major-league contest between the St. Louis Cardinals and the San Diego Padres. The Cardinals game starts at 1:15 p.m.

Tickets are still available and may be purchased from any Granite City baseball player or by calling the high school. A portion of the proceeds from the ticket sales will benefit the GCHS baseball program.

Granite City coach Gus Lignoul said last year's ticket sales helped the Warriors purchase a batting cage now located behind Varsity Field. The Warriors also plan to put some of the money from the ticket sales to good use this year. For every home run hit at Varsity Field this season, the Warriors will donate $25 to the Vandalia Five made it to the Council toward Christmas food baskets for needy families.

Granite City qualifies 15 for IKWF state tourney

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Granite City Wrestling Club qualified a team record 15 individuals in sectional competition Saturday at Vandalia for this weekend's Illinois Kids Wrestling Federation individual state tournament.

Granite City, coached by Allen Kirgan, will bring 14 individuals from Coolidge Junior High and one from Grigsby to Illinois State University in Normal this weekend. The state tournament will begin Friday and run through Saturday.

Granite City advanced 11 individuals to state last year, all of whom failed to place. Kirgan would like to see the team continue this year's success after placing second at the IKWF state dual-meet tournament March 5. Granite City's wrestlers have competed in tournaments throughout the state this year.

"We've done a lot of things this season," Kirgan said. "We didn't have any place winners last year, so hopefully we can change that. All of our kids have been up north all year. They should be up."

GRANITE CITY HAD eight state qualifiers Saturday in the Senior Division (age 13-15) at Vandalia. Five made it to the finals and three others captured third place.

The finalists were Jeremy Cox, Justin Hale, Jonas Janek and Eric Samuels of Coolidge and Matt Glover of Grigsby. Cox won the 74-pound weight class title. Janek won the 115-pound title and Samuels won the 166-pound title. Hale placed second, Cox, Janek and Samuels pinned each opponent on their way to championships.

Granite City's third-place finishers were Adam Dunnivant at 79 pounds, Ryan Moneyemaker at 122, and Ben Temple at 275. Dunnivant lost 7-3 to Belhato's Seven Bryant, a two-time state champion and three-time place winner.

In the Novice Division (age 10-12), Granite City had seven winners. (See IKWF, Page 2B)

Steelers cap season with tourney title

The Granite City Steelers Peewee A1 team recently completed a successful season in the Granite City Amateur Hockey Association with a 21-8-2 overall record.

The Steelers, made up of 15 boys and one girl age 11-12, also competed against teams from metropolitan St. Louis and finished second in Missouri Amateur Ice Hockey Association play with a 10-1-1 record.

In building their 44-point season, the Steelers outscored their opponents by 43 goals and outshot the opposition by 29 shots. In two postseason tournaments, the Steelers captured first-place trophies in the Granite City Spring Tournament and the Evansville, Ind. Invitational Tournament.

The Steelers, led by head coach Larry Thatcher and assistants Kevin Werner, Bill Fidor and Mitch Dugger, capped off the season by winning the Evansville Invitational.

IN LEAGUE PLAY. Granite City faced Peewee A1 teams from Creve Coeur, Webster Groves, Meramec and Affton in St. Louis. The Steelers also played teams from Peoria, Pekin, Springfield, St. Joseph, Mo., and Cincinnati, Ohio. The Steelers began team practices in October and concluded the year earlier this month.

The team was made up of Granite City residents Robyn Slater, Jared Brown, Jon Burns, Vince Whittenburg, Mike Angle, Ty Suhre, Bob Harris, David Svezia and Bill Fidor; Brad Jones and Zack Thatcher of East Alton; Ben Tobin and Ben Dugger of Bethalto; Tom Guarino and Zach Robinette of Edwardsville; and Scott Werner of Madison.

The team's offensive leaders were Burns, who had a team-high 35 goals; Whittenburg, who had 14; and Werner, who had 13. Burns served as the team captain and led the Steelers with 158 shots on goal and a plus-minus ratio of plus-42. He also had four hat tricks and seven game-winning goals.

Whittenburg and Angle were the alternate captains. Whittenburg had three game-winning goals, as did Harris. Brown and Fidor both had two game-winning goals and Dugger and Werner had one apiece.

The assist leaders were Suhre with 20; Burns with 18; Werner with 12; and Dugger with 12. Defensively, the top three plus-minus players were Angle (plus-31); Slater (plus-20); and Robinette (plus-12). Slater had 23 shots on goal, Angle had 17 and Svezia had 16.

THATCHER LED THE STEELERS in penalty minutes with 35.5 minutes, while Slater was the least penalized player with three minutes. The team had 11 power-play goals on 39 penalties and four short-handed goals.

The team's goaltenders faced a total of 547 shots while allowing 72 goals. Tobin played in 27 games, allowing 37 goals for a goals-against average of 1.37. He faced 282 shots, posted a save percentage of .853 and had one shutout.

The team's other goalie, Jones, played in 28 games and allowed 37 goals for a goals-against average of 1.32. He faced 285 shots for a save percentage of .874 and had two shutouts. Jones was named the championship MVP in the Granite City Spring Tournament.

The Steelers were just one of 37 teams in the Granite City Amateur Hockey Association this year. The association offered programs for more than 315 boys and girls age 5-17.

Mitchell leagues taking registration for upcoming year

The Mitchell Athletic Club is holding open registration for the 1994 Khoury League season on Tuesdays and Wednesdays this month.

Registration is scheduled for 6-8 p.m. March 23 and 29-30 in the gymnasium at Mitchell School, 316 East Chain of Rocks Road. Every player must register. New teams will be formed as sign-ups are taken.

Children age 5-6 will play T-Ball. The cost to register for T-Ball is $25. Children age 7 will play coach-pitch baseball. The cost is $35.

Softball sign-ups for girls age 8 and above are also being taken. The cost is $30. Boys age 8 and above can register for baseball with a cost of $35.

For more information, call Larry Monroe at 797-1532.

Other state qualifiers, all from Coolidge. The sectional champs were 74-pounder Gary Oxford, 122-pounder George Kirgan and 156-pounder Nick Patrick. Steven Peach (62), Jake Tritan (66), Mark Venable (108) and Kevin Venne (155) placed second.

As a team, Granite City finished second in the Novice Division standings behind Bethalto. The team finished third in the Senior Division.

Lively Taste

For Oriental flavor, combine 2 teaspoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 2 tablespoons soy sauce and 2 tablespoons chopped fresh ginger. Pour over fresh seafood. Bake in preheated 450° oven 10 minutes or until done.

Health & Fitness

Fresh Picks

Lustrous lettuce looks beyond iceberg. Hearty romaine has crunch. Endive is tangy. Green and red leaf are tender. Boston and bibb burst with freshness. Arugula adds strong punch. The greener the green, the better it is for you. A greens combination has enough flavor to cut the need for lots of dressing. For a quick mix, combine a basic favorite with a small amount of an expensive mix. It is worth the little extra price.

Medicine Chest

Keep a family medical log for each person. It should include names and strengths of drugs and what they were used for. Recording any reactions or side effects can help a physician make medication decisions.

Big Fat Tip

Brighten a meal with fresh salad. Stack it with delicious combinations of vegetables. Start with dark-colored greens — like romaine, spinach, watercress and kale — and add other colors, such as red cabbage, steamed broccoli chunks, chopped red pepper and baby peas and carrots. Skip higher-fat ingredients like sunflower seeds, bacon bits, cheese, eggs and meat in favor of cooked brown rice, pasta, barley and bulgur. Sprinkle the top with wheat germ. Use a low-fat or nonfat salad dressing or mix 1 teaspoon oil with an equal amount of flavored vinegar, lemon juice or tomato juice, plus spices.

Future Shop

Some day french fries may be back on the menu for everyone, including those who watch their fat consumption. A higher-starch potato, being designed in today's laboratory, means fries and chips will absorb less oil when fried.

The Eating Right Recipe Contest was a bloomin' success.

Sponsored by the St. Louis Chapter of the American Heart Association and Suburban Journals, the contest drew entries with a wide variety of ingredients and ways of cutting fat to make them more wholesome. The contest is framed between American Heart Month and National Nutrition Month to offer day-to-day suggestions for healthful eating.

Each winner receives a basket of healthful foods from Schnuck Markets and a Heart Association cookbook.

Some awards were chosen for everyday foods, while others went to party foods made heart-healthy with flair.

One recipe in the sweet dessert or snack category kept popping to the top of the stack of entries. The Five o'clock fever.

Five p.m. Kids are cranky. Mom and Dad are tired and everyone is hungry.

While dinner is in preparation, give little fingers and minds time to relax. Let kids "play" in a couple inches of soapy water in the kitchen while the meal is in the works. They can wash carrots, green beans and broccoli "trees" — don't forget a rinse before cooking — to give more interest in eating them, too. Being ready to wash measuring spoons for Mom or Dad shows them equipment they can help make dinner with, too, when they are ready.

It gives one-on-one time if it wasn't available during the day, while a few little boats nearby the water can shift a little one's imagination into "drive" without many parental cues.

Layer Italian pleasure into pasta, peas, cheese

Restaurants often introduce new tastes. Popular Italian restaurants increase the home repertoire with creative ways to perk up pasta. A popular combination bursts the distinctive flavors of smoked ham, earthy mushrooms, colorful peas and a rich cheese sauce onto a bed of pasta.

This recipe allows home cooks to re-create the restaurant taste at home using a layered preparation method similar to lasagna. Ricotta cheese is a key in the dish for its soft texture and mild flavor, which offsets the more assertive flavor of smoky ham.

Once a quickly-prepared white sauce is mixed with mushrooms, ham and peas, and layered with the cheese and pasta, it can be held for final baking, making it a perfect answer to the quest for a warm-from-the-oven dish ready for guests.

LAYERED PASTA

6 oz. uncooked penne,

- mostaccioli or other tube pasta
- 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
- 3 tbsp. chopped red bell pepper
- 3 tbsp. chopped green onion
- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter or margarine
- 2 tbsp. flour
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup reduced-sodium chicken broth
- 2 cups (10 oz.) diced ham
- 1 cup frozen small peas, thawed
- 1 cup (8 oz.) ricotta cheese
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
- ¼ cup shredded parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 375°. Cook pasta according to package directions.

In medium saucepan, cook mushrooms, red pepper and onion in butter over medium heat about 3 minutes, stirring occasionally, until tender.

Remove from heat. Stir in flour and pepper until smooth. Stir in mustard. Gradually stir in milk and broth. Heat to boil over medium heat, stirring frequently. Boil and stir 1 minute.

Remove from heat. Stir in ham and peas. Place 1 cup sauce in bottom of 8- or 9-inch square baking dish.

Layer half pasta over sauce. Spread with ½ cup ricotta cheese, half remaining sauce, ½ cup Swiss cheese and 2 tablespoons parmesan cheese. Repeat layers of pasta, ½ cup ricotta cheese and sauce. Cover with foil.

Bake in preheated oven 30 minutes. Uncover. Bake 10 minutes longer.

Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup Swiss cheese and 2 tablespoons parmesan cheese. Let stand 10 minutes before serving.

Makes 6 servings.

Creamy cheese sauce delivers ham, mushrooms and peas with delicious verve through baked pasta.

Blue Ribbon Cook

Veggie bake favors cauliflower

Edna Walters, St. Louis County, is the winner of this week's recipe contest for Cauliflower and Broccoli Casserole. For it she wins a prize of dinner certificates at the Pasta House Company.

Recipes in the Rice Recipe Contest will be accepted through March 31 for consideration as winner each of the four weeks in April.

Send one recipe per household to: Rice Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. Suggested entries include salads, casseroles, side dishes, appetizers and desserts.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

CAULIFLOWER AND BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen cauliflower, thawed
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen

- broccoli, thawed
- 6 slices bread, buttered
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- 2 cups milk
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. onion flakes

Preheat oven to 350°. Butter or grease 8- or 9-inch square pan.

In prepared pan, layer bread, cauliflower, broccoli and cheese twice, starting with bread. Mix milk, salt, egg and onion flakes. Pour over vegetable layers. Bake in preheated oven 45 to 60 minutes.

Take thyme to plant herbs for sage

It is not too early to think about planting your spring garden. Herbs should be at the top of the list. You don't need a green thumb to produce baskets of beautiful, luscious herbs. Look for a sunny location, some seed packets and ask Mother Nature for a little help.

HERBED OR FRUIT VINEGAR

- 1 qt. red or white vinegar

- 2 tbsp. black, white or green peppercorns, crushed
- 2 cups fresh herbs, such as oregano, rosemary, tarragon, thyme, sage or chopped shallots; or berries such as blueberries, blackberries or raspberries
- 2 to 4 cloves garlic, if desired
- 2 tbsp. juniper berries, if desired

In non-aluminum saucepan, bring vinegar and pepper to boil. Remove from heat. Let cool to 120° to 125° or still very warm.

Wash and dry two quart-size bottles or several smaller jars.

Divide fresh herbs or berries among the bottles. Add garlic and juniper berries. Pour in vinegar to about 2 inches from top, allowing room for flavors to mellow. Cork bottles. Allow to mature at a cool room temperature at least 2 weeks before using.

Light Winners

Continued from page 1C. Judges — six local dietitians associated with the heart association — chose Dirt Cake, which loses none of its rich and gooey appeal — in spite of dropping fat from the original 17 grams to an exemplary 2 grams per serving.

Debbie Lammers, St. Charles, started eating meat healthfully with the new year. An invitation to a Super Bowl party gave her incentive to make her luscious dessert heart-smart.

"It was a success and was gone before my girlfriends' gooey butter cake and chocolate chip cookies," she wrote. The judges decided it was a perfect example of what they were seeking — a revised recipe using readily available ingredients resulting in a new, reduced-fat dish that everyone would love to eat.

For a meatless main dish, Debbie Keane, Eureka, submitted winning Frijoles Especial. She loved the flavor of black beans with rice at a restaurant, so she went home and concocted a similar recipe for her family, making certain it had no extra fat in it or as a condiment.

Darlene S. Corwin, Belleville, Ill., put together a party-style side dish with fruit. Festively colored and flavored, it combines fresh berries, melon and other fruits of choice — seasonal or special — with an orange-flavored dressing. It can be mixed with or put on top of macaroni. Fat in the recipe is contributed by crunchy pecans which, in the tester's opinion, provide an exceptional flavor blend.

In the vegetable half of the vegetable/fruit category, Norma Graham, Hazelwood, suggested an easy pasta dish with fresh broccoli, tomatoes and green onion. She cut the amount of oil, dropped strips of sautéed chicken and decreased salt from the original recipe.

Two entries in the "class" favorite low-fat recipe category will be featured in a future Journal Today's Food section. They were submitted by Julie Frank of Kirkwood High School and Peggy Tiney of New Athens High School.

DESSERT DIRT CAKE

- 1 pkg. low-fat chocolate sandwich cookies, crushed (1 g fat per cookie)
- 2 boxes (4 servings each) sugar-free instant vanilla pudding mix
- 2½ cups skim milk
- 1 cup confectioner's sugar
- ½ cup (1 tub) nonfat margarine
- 1 tub (8 oz.) nonfat process cream cheese
- 1 carton (8 oz.) frozen reduced-fat whipped topping, thawed
- Silk flowers and gummy worms, if desired

Line flower pot about 8 inches in diameter and 6 inches deep with aluminum foil or plastic wrap. Spread some cookie crumbs over wrap.

Mix milk and pudding mix according to package directions. In separate bowl, combine margarine and cream cheese. Mix in confectioner's sugar. Mix with pudding.

Schnucks Cinnamon Grahams

for them. They ate a lot of it crumbly," she said.

Personally, Horn buys cinnamon grahams occasionally. "I find them addictive. They are like potato chips once you start eating them," she said.

Unlike the results at Arlington, teachers at Salem found their trial boxful a bit

Cindy Leonard, co-teacher of four- and five-year-olds at Eden Laboratory School in Webster Groves, said her testers liked the crunch and sweetness, although they would have liked them to be a little more "cinnamonymonny" — in their words.

Micro Raves

By BARB GRAY

Men, too, eat quiche cooked in a microwave

Quiche — a combination of milk, eggs, cheese and spices cooked in a pastry shell — can be mellow or sprightly. It is as simple as 1-2-3 to make in a microwave oven, can be varied with whatever is in the refrigerator, on a pantry shelf or bursting in the imagination.

First, the pastry shell should be baked in the microwave and allowed to cool. If it is not baked in advance, it becomes soggy while the filling cooks.

Next, add cooked meat or vegetables to the pastry shell.

Finally, gently pour a mixture of eggs, milk and favorite spices over a spatula into the shell to avoid disturbing the filling.

8 slices bacon
3 eggs
1 can (12 oz.) evaporated milk
1/4 tsp. paprika
1 1/4 cups (5 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese
1/4 cup parmesan cheese
Pinch nutmeg

Remove frozen pastry shell from freezer. Immediately place in microwave-safe pie plate. Microwave on high power 6 to 7 minutes until crisp. Cool and crumble into baked pastry shell.

Beat together eggs and milk. Add paprika, mozzarella, parmesan and nutmeg. Pour gently — over spatula to prevent moving ingredients in pastry shell. Microwave on high 9 minutes, turning every 3 minutes. The first two times dish is turned, loosen sides of quiche. Inside, just like scrambling eggs. Do not stir the last time. If quiche looks a little watery in middle, cook 1 to 2 minutes longer. Let cool 3 minutes before serving.

Makes 6 generous servings. Variations: In place of bacon, substitute 1 cup cooked ham, chicken or turkey.

For vegetable quiche, thaw 1 package (10 ounces) frozen spinach and squeeze out all moisture before placing in shell. To use other frozen or fresh vegetable, cook it first in the microwave.

To make crust-less quiche, spray microwave-safe pie plate with nonstick cooking spray. Follow rest of recipe.

To cut fat and cholesterol, use equivalents of evaporated skim milk, yolk-free egg product and low-fat mozzarella cheese. Microwave specialist Barb Gray is a certified home economist.

BASIC QUICHE BY MICROWAVE

9 inch deep-dish pastry shell, frozen or a favorite recipe

Bake a slice of sunshine in easy overnight bubble

The sweet flavor of orange surrounds delicate pockets of yeast dough in delicious Orange Bubble Coffecake.

Because this recipe uses frozen bread or roll dough, it has never been so easy to bake. Simply roll dough in balls, dip in butter, roll in sugar-orange mixture and place in pan.

Let the mixture rise, then bake it. For even more convenience, let the dough rise in the refrigerator overnight, then pop in the oven in the morning for fresh-baked aroma and flavor.

ORANGE BUBBLE COFFEECAKE

1 1/2 loaves (1 1/2 lb.) frozen bread dough or 1 1/2 lb. frozen rolls
6 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. grated orange rind

Let dough thaw. If using bread dough, divide whole loaf in 16 pieces and half loaf in 8 pieces for total of 24 pieces. If using rolls, divide in half.

Shape each roll or piece of dough into ball. Mix sugar and orange rind. Dip each ball in butter, then in sugar-orange mixture. Arrange dough in greased tube or fluted tube pan.

Let dough rise in warm area until dough rises to top of pan, or place in refrigerator, covered loosely with plastic wrap, to rise overnight. To speed rising time, dough can be placed in oven warmed to 140°, then turned off.

Preheat oven to 350°. Bake in preheated oven 40 minutes. If bread browns too quickly, cover with foil. To test for doneness, gently tap baked loaf on top with tip of knife; if it sounds hollow, it should be done.

Remove bread from oven. Invert pan on large plate.

Wise Ways

By CYNTHIA FAUSER

Beware: vitamin, iron supplements can poison children

"Children act fast ... so do poisons." That is the reminder from the Poison Prevention Council.

Unfortunately, vitamin pills often go unrecognized as potential poisons. Yet, 30 percent of child poisoning deaths from medications are from iron pills.

In 1991, U.S. poison control centers received reports of 5,144 ingestions of iron supplements. Eleven children from that number died. Five toddlers in Los Angeles alone died in a six-month period. All were under two years of age and easily gained access to uncapped iron supplements on tables or the floor. The tragic deaths of these toddlers show how important it is to keep iron supplements away from children. It is a necessity to re-fasten them each time opened.

As few as five-high potency iron supplements — 60 milligrams iron — can kill a 22-pound child. Four of the children who died had eaten at least 30 tablets.

Children's vitamins can be risky, too. Even though they contain less iron than adult formulations, if a child thinks of them as candy, they can cause harm.

Unfortunately, fancy shapes, bright colors and cartoon characters on packages can confuse them.

Another way to avoid accidental poisoning is to discard medicines by flushing them down the toilet, not dropping them in a wastebasket where children can find them.

The Poison Center phone number should be placed next to the phone: 772-3300 in the St. Louis area and toll-free (800) 366-8888 outside the area.

Call immediately if you suspect a child has eaten iron tablets, even if they do not seem ill. Speed is critical.

Iron found in foods is better absorbed, tastier and safer than pills. Help yourself to natural sources before reaching for supplements.

One serving of Beef 'n Broccoli Slaw Pockets supplies 11 percent of the iron and 44 percent of vitamin C an adult needs in a day.

BEEF 'N BROCCOLI SLAW POCKETS

- 1 cup broccoli stems, peeled, thinly sliced, or ready-cut broccoli slaw
- 2 to 3 tbsp. coleslaw

- dressing
- 1 cup lean beef, cooked, cut in thin strips
- 2 (6 inch) whole wheat pita bread

Sliced tomato, if desired

In bowl, mix broccoli with just enough dressing to moisten. Toss with beef.

Cut pita in halves to form pockets. Place one-fourth filling in each bread half. Top with tomato.

Makes 4 servings; about 223 calories, 8 g fat and 376 mg sodium each.

Registered dietitian Cynthia Fauser is nutrition specialist with University of Missouri Extension in St. Louis County. Some information came from Melinda Hemmelgarn, also a registered dietitian with Extension Service.

REGULAR MEALS CONTROL WEIGHT

Skipping meals is not the answer to controlling weight. A person who goes many hours without eating is bound to be hungry and overeat at the next meal.

Instead, eat low-in-fat meals during the day and a healthy snack or two when hunger pangs strike. If there is little time to fix meals or if the only choice at work is high-fat foods, stack up on prepackaged foods that are nutritionally balanced and reduced in fat and calories.

POPPY SEED
POUND CAKE

- 1/2 cup poppy seeds
1 cup low-fat buttermilk
3/4 cup yolk-free egg product
1 tsp. vanilla
2 1/2 cups margarine, softened
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 1/2 cups flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 tsp. cinnamon
2 tsp. water
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar

Preheat oven to 350°. Grease 12-cup fluted tube pan.

In small bowl, stir poppy seed into buttermilk. Let stand 5 minutes. Stir in egg product and vanilla.

In large bowl, using electric mixer at high speed, beat margarine and sugar until creamy.

Combine flour, baking powder and baking soda. Alternately blend milk mixture and flour mixture into margarine mixture until smooth.

Mix brown sugar and cinnamon.

Pour half the batter into prepared pan. Sprinkle with cinnamon mixture. Top with remaining batter.

Bake in preheated oven 40 to 45 minutes until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

Cool on wire rack 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool completely on wire rack. Gradually blend water into confectioner's sugar until smooth. Drizzle over cake.

Makes 16 servings; 266 calories, 9 g fat (30 percent calories from fat), 1 mg cholesterol and 266 mg sodium each.

NUTRITION AWARENESS
QUIZ ANSWERS

1. TRUE

Vegetables and fruits contain varying amounts of vitamins, minerals and fiber which may reduce the risk for these cancers.

2. FALSE

Unfortunately, Americans have one of the fattiest diets in the world. About 37% of our calories now come from fats, up from 32% at the start of the century. The American Cancer Society recommends that Americans reduce their fat intake so that less than 30% of all calories consumed each day come from fats, with less than 10% of calories coming from saturated fat. That translates to less than 66 grams of fat in a 2,000 calorie daily diet.

3. TRUE

Romaine lettuce, for instance, has six times as much vitamin C and eight times as much beta carotene as iceberg lettuce. Spinach, watercress, mustard and collard greens are other nutritious choices for salads.

4. FALSE

Beans, nuts and seeds are excellent sources of dietary fiber, protein, vitamins and minerals. Beans also are generally low in fat. However, most nuts and seeds are high in both fat and calories, so eat them sparingly.

5. TRUE

Thanks to improved canning technology, canned fruits and vegetables retain most of the food's vitamins and minerals. Choose fruit packed in juices or light syrup and vegetables packed with reduced salt.

6. TRUE

Choose low-fat cooking methods. Bake, simmer, poach, steam or roast meats, poultry and fish. Steam or boil vegetables in water.

7. FALSE

Though butter and margarine contain the same amount of calories and total fat, butter contains cholesterol and more saturated fat, the kind responsible for heart disease and certain cancers. When possible, use liquid vegetable oils (except coconut and palm oil) in cooking. Olive and canola oils are the best choices because they are highest in monounsaturated fat and among the lowest in saturated fat.

8. FALSE

Ingredients are listed in order of quantity, starting with the greatest amount and ending with the least. Choose products that have no fats or oils, or those in which they are listed last. When looking for a nutritious bread or cereal, the first ingredient should be a whole grain such as whole wheat.

9. FALSE

Hotdogs made from chicken or turkey aren't necessarily low in fat, since they often contain the dark meat and the skin, both high in fat. They also may contain 20 to 50 milligrams of cholesterol—as much as or more than beef or pork franks. Read the food labels carefully.

10. TRUE

American Cancer Society research shows that being overweight is a risk factor for a number of different cancers. For people who are obese, weight reduction is a good way to lower cancer risk.

Honey, apple, wheat germ trim scone fat

A tender, fruit-filled scone sweetened with golden honey and wheat germ won the $5,000 grand prize in the Kretschmer wheat germ Healthy Eating Made Easy and Delicious Recipe Contest.

Winner Patricia Schroedl of Jefferson, Wis., found baking with wheat germ a delicious and nutritious idea.

Her recent efforts to be more healthful resulted in losing 50 pounds in one year. To do it, she ate much less fat and sugar, cooked at home more regularly and walked every day.

Price-winning Apple 'n' Honey Scones are flavorful, but also have less fat than scones that use more margarine or butter, whole milk or cream and a whole egg.

Dough should be handled gently to keep scones tender. These have skim milk, no egg and just enough margarine to mold their tenderness. Substituting wheat germ for a portion of the flour boosts their nutrition, too.

For more healthful, delicious recipes, send name and address to: Healthy Eating Made Easy, 332 S. Michigan Ave., Suite 900, Department N, Chicago, Ill. 60604.

APPLE 'N' HONEY SCONES

2 cups flour
2/3 cup plus 1 tbsp. wheat germ
2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1/4 tsp. salt, if desired
1/2 cup (5 tbsp. plus 1 tsp.) margarine, chilled
1 1/4 cups finely chopped apple (about 1 large)
1/4 cup skim milk
1/4 cup honey

1 tbsp. sugar

Preheat oven to 400°. Lightly spray large cookie sheet with nonstick cooking spray or grease lightly.

Combine flour, 2/3 cup wheat germ, baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, nutmeg, baking soda and salt. Cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Add combined apple, milk and honey. Mix until dry ingredients are just moistened.

Turn dough out on lightly floured surface. Knead gently 5 to 6 times. Pat dough in 9-inch circle.

Mix together remaining 1 tablespoon wheat germ, sugar and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. Sprinkle over dough. Cut dough in 10 wedges. Place 1/2-inch apart on prepared cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven 16 to 18 minutes until light golden brown.

Serve warm with additional honey, if desired.

Makes 10 servings; 220 calories, 7 g fat (29 percent calories from fat), no cholesterol, 210 mg sodium, 34 g carbohydrate, 6 g protein and 2 g dietary fiber each.

Tasty creamy toppers make eating vegetable easy

Mom always urged you to eat your vegetables. This is an easy task as souper-easy vegetable toppers turn ordinary vegetable dishes into saucy, savory delights.

Saucy Asparagus, made with cream of asparagus soup, is a fast and easy recipe that emphasizes fresh or frozen asparagus spears with rich and creamy flavor that can be added in only five minutes.

Almost any cream or cheese soup combined with vegetables is an instant sensation. For velvety versatility, cheddar cheese soup does this in Cheesy Vegetable Medley. This tangy topper gives special zing to French fries, omelets and pasta, too.

CHEESY
VEGETABLE MEDLEY

1 can (10 3/4 oz.) cheddar cheese soup
1/2 cup milk
1 bag (16 oz.) frozen vegetable combination (broccoli, carrots and cauliflower), cooked, drained

In 1-quart saucepan, combine soup and milk. Over low heat, heat through, stirring often.

Serve over hot vegetables. Makes 4 servings.

SAUCY ASPARAGUS

1 can (10 3/4 oz.) cream of asparagus soup

1/2 cup milk or water
2 lb. fresh asparagus spears (about 32 to 40), trimmed, cooked, drained, or 2 pkg. (10 oz. each) frozen asparagus spears, cooked, drained

In 1-quart saucepan, combine soup and milk.

Over medium heat, warm through, stirring often. Serve sauce over warm asparagus. Makes 6 servings.

FAMILY MEALS
TAKE EASY ROUTE

When it comes to cooking for the family, ground beef is a versatile favorite.

It is the basic ingredient in a variety of tasty, easy-to-prepare recipes. "Fast Family Favorites," a new recipe brochure from the Missouri Beef Industry Council, contains a variety of one-dish meals with family appeal. They are designed to fit into busy schedules and tight budgets.

To order a free copy, send a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope to: Missouri Beef Industry Council, 2015 Missouri Blvd., Jefferson City, Mo. 65109.

Horoscope

Wednesday, March 23
The astrological harmonics are lucky and easy as the moon and sun create a happy duet. Prepare for passionate feelings about the past.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You were cooking along on a project for days before anyone took note, but recognition is satisfying now. More praise to those under you is also in order. Make dates with new romantic prospects.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Making yourself available to a loved one opens up a very attractive side of your personality. Expect others to be more interested when they see the real you. Overpaid money come back to you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) If mistakes are made, they are in your favor. Keeping copies and files will save you from doing a tap dance for the boss later. Examine the paper to find a concert you'd love to attend later.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) Push financial offers only get more push if you heat out anger. A relationship of convenience now becomes more substantial. Engage in meaningful conversations. Ask more, and talk less.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Network this morning, when your charisma quotient is sky high. Your family gets picky tonight — chalk it up to jealousy, and strut off to do things your own way. You are due for a trip to the bookstore.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your parenting instincts are absolutely right. Deflect stress by cutting out the riffraff. Find a reason to get to know a co-worker more personally — this will help you with your long-term goals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Waking up to new attitudes that are entering the workplace puts you ahead of the game and in line for a promotion. You act braver around your family. A lover won't detect your mistake unless you tell him or her about it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) A language barrier doesn't stop you from closing a deal — just make sure your definitions are the same as your partner's. Jesting with a sweetheart brings you closer. Treat a friend to dinner tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) A pupil's progress is pleasing. You're an expert bargainer. Try not to talk yourself into wanting the unnecessary. Dates start out slowly, but in an hour, the conversation is riveting.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A wealth of opportunity in the financial realm is slightly overwhelming — take time to consider all offers. You have an impressive instinct for taking appropriate measures in romance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Current national events affect you on a smaller scale. Concentrate on being unselfish, and good luck comes to you. A former love sends you a message via a mutual friend. Your conscience steers you well.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Your family blesses you for your good-hearted acts, but an acquaintance who gets too comely too fast catches a glimpse of your wrath — this prevents future infringements. Romance abounds tonight.

Bach's 'St. Mathew Passion' coming to SIUE

The Community Choral Society, the Concert Choral and the University Singers, all of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, are in the throes of rehearsing what could be their most challenging endeavor — an upcoming performance of J.S. Bach's "St. Mathew Passion," an enormous work that requires two choirs and two orchestras.

SIUE music Professor Leonard Van Camp, conductor and music director for the Concert Choral and the Choral Society, is confident they can do this piece and do it well, but admits the challenge is formidable.

Other than the personnel needed — although the original was probably done on a smaller scale in the 18th century — its length (nearly 3½ hours) and its vocal gymnastics are enough to make the "St. Mathew Passion" a colossal undertaking.

The concert isn't until May, but audiences will have a chance to learn more about the piece first at a "lecture-concert" set for 7:30 p.m. Monday, March 28, in SIUE's Communications Building theater.

"This will give me a chance to share some fascinating facts about this work with the audiences," Van Camp said. He explained that Bach, a devout Lutheran, was apparently obsessed with numerology and work is based." Known for his translations of oratorios into English from the original language in which they were written, Van Camp said this piece was as challenging as any he's worked with in the past.

"I started this translation in September and finished it just recently," he said. "I worked from a facsimile of the original score that I obtained from a company in New York and a microfilm of the instrumental and vocal parts that I found in

27 attend Granite City Unit HEA March meeting

The March meeting of Granite City Unit Homemakers Extension Association was opened by the invocation given by Vera Lynn.

A luncheon was served by the hostesses Ann Miller, Sophia Thomas, and Barbara Rodgers. The pledge to the flag was recited by all and LaNell Lesseg led the Homemakers' Aim.

There were 27 members in attendance and one guest, Mary Radick introduced her guest, Annette Edwards, who joined the Unit.

First Vice Barbara Rodgers thanked the hostesses and introduced the speakers Mary Thebeau and Marth Melvov who gave a very informative lesson on "Activities and Services for Senior Citizens."

President Mary Evalyene Yencho read a letter from the Chamber of Commerce asking our participation in their clean up campaign. She also read an invitation from Anna Michels for her 90th birthday party, which was held March 8.

Motion was made by Florence Stokes and seconded by Florence

Hagnauer to continue the February Bake Sales.

Second Vice LaNell Lesseg reported on the Kickoff Luncheon held February 7. She announced the membership drive will end in April.

Interim chairman Sophia Thomas read a letter regarding International Day. No plans have been made as of yet.

Cultural Enrichment Chairmen Helen Harshany and Betty Golasich showed crafts which will be made at the next meeting. District meeting will be May 3 and will be hosted by the Granite City Unit. We will be going to the Lady of the Snows Shrine.

Sophia Thomas and LaNell Lesseg are in charge of arrangements.

Nominating chairman Mary Thebeau made a report. The new officers will be President

(See HEA, Page 4D)

Dream come true — The tri-City Shrine Club recently made a dream come true for a little girl. Members of the club learned that Kelly Zetter was in need of a tricycle. Nobles Sid Strotheide, left, Tom Belshe and Bill Davis presented Kelly with the tricycle.

Ladies of VFW Post 1300 meet

Ladies of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300 held their first meeting of the new year on January 11, at their post home.

Presiding over the meeting was President Mary Pat Farmer. Chaplain Ruth Bunker opened the meeting with a prayer and the pledge of allegiance.

Reports were made by the following chairladies: Treasurer and 12th District President Margaret Champion gave the financial aid cancer report and also reminded the auxiliary that a percentage of their dues goes for cancer insurance; Secretary, 12th District Historian, P.A.C. Mary K. Culin read the December meeting minutes; Conductress Ollie Conaway gave her report on the trip to John Cochran Hospital and also the planned trip to Fort Harsh School to give Browne-Troop 822 a flag; Trustee Shirley Champion gave a report on the December Children's Christmas Party; and Trustee Lois Hansen read the audit for the auxiliary. Discussions were then made on the advertisements, "clean-up, working and the making of cole slaw for the Friday Fish Fries.

Chaplain Ruth Bunker conducted the draping of the Charter for the memorial service for the departed auxiliary sisters: Cheryl Mitalovics, Bessie Schneke, Mary Yobby and Helen Barbeau.

Auxiliary members attending the January meeting were: Treasurer, 12th District President Margaret Champion; Secretary, 12th District Historian Mary K. Culin; President Mary Pat Farmer; Senior Vice President Kathy Cruse; Chaplain Ruth Bunker; Conductress Ollie Champion; Guard Judy Woods; Trustees Lois Hansen, Shirley Champion, and Shirley Yates; and members Gladys Greene and Mary Lou Carroll.

Following both men and women's meetings, refreshments were served by Bill Grable for all members.

Mary Thebeau and Secretary Mary Evalyne Vencho. President Mary Evalyne announced the annual meeting will be in Martins, Ill., on April 28. She will be installed at that time as Southwest District President.

The hostesses for the next meeting will be Mary Thebeau, Clella Schreiber and Florence Stokes. The lesson "Beans and Legumes" will be given by Elizabeth Edwards and Ann Allison.

The Hummemaker's Creed was led by Ann Miller and the meeting was adjourned. A White Elephant Sale was then held.

Spelling champs — The winners of the annual K of C spelling bee were, from left, 1st place, Catherine Layloff of St. Elizabeth's; 2nd place, Jay Gensert of St. Elizabeth's; and third place, Bobby Bossett of Holy Family. The trophies were presented by Grand Knight John Moseley.

Multicultural Egg Display at Shrine

The annual Multicultural Egg Display at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows will be held from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. March 27 through April 10 at the St. Joseph's Visitors Center except for on Good Friday. The Shrine will be closed that day.

The display focuses on the events of Holy Week. The first is Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem — the day we now call Palm Sunday. Other events include the Passover, Good Friday, the resurrection, the Ascension and finally Pentecost. Special areas are designed for each event, highlighted by specially decorated eggs.

Decorating techniques will be demonstrated daily, including Pysanky, Polish, Hungarian, Ukrainian, Chinese Watercolor, Cloisonné, Russian Lacquer, Cut-out Eggwork and other various egg art forms.

Admission is free. For more information regarding the display, call Barb Reynolds at 397-6700.
